

Bi-State Agency, Transit System Assets Up

Assets of the Bi-State Transit System, major revenue-producing operation of the Bi-State Development Agency, increased almost $2 million dollars during the fiscal year ending last Feb. 28, according to the annual report of the Bi-State Agency released this week.

The report shows the transit system ended its last fiscal year with assets of $29,669,900, compared with $27,500,000 at the end of the 1964-65 fiscal year in February 1965. The report marked the end of the third year the Bi-State System has been in operation.

At the same time an audit of the Bi-State Agency funds shows the agency ended its fiscal year June 30 of this year with total assets of $30,000,000, the total assets of the transit system, this brings to more than $38 million the total assets of the Bi-State Agency, which is one of the oldest operating interstate agencies in the country. It was created by an Illinois-Missouri compact in 1949.

According to the report, operating expenses for the transit system during the year ending Feb. 28 amounted to $22,476,642, almost $600,000 more than in the preceding year. Operating expenses were about $465,000 over the previous year, due primarily to increased wage costs.

Settle Labor Problems

Settlement of a new three-year labor contract was accomplished during the year and approved by Bi-State Agency members on Feb. 10, 1966, retroactive to March 1. It is estimated the new contract will result in increased operating costs of approximately $300,000.

In January, toward the end of the transit system fiscal year, the Board of Commissioners of the Bi-State Agency authorized the purchase of 50 new air-conditioned buses at a cost of approximately $150,000.

The purchase increased to 228 the total number of new buses purchased by the transit system during the last year and are scheduled for delivery soon. Additional land for which the state of Illinois appropriated funds was acquired in July 1965. Steps also are under way to develop an industrial Park as an adjunct to the airport.

The report points out that the Bi-State Agency and its commissioners played noted parts during the last five years in the development of the Interstate Air Pollution Study and in development of the East-West Gateway Corridor Study, which is part of the service car operation in St. Louis and its replacement with improved bus service coordinated with the entire Bi-State system.

Rapid-Transit Study

The way also was cleared for an engineering study of the proposed rapid-transit system in the transit system.

The state of Missouri appropriated $150,000 of the $450,000 needed. Application was made with the federal government for the balance of $300,000.

Development of the agency's Gateway Arch passenger transportation system in the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial in St. Louis progressed toward completion during the fiscal year. The transportation system was financed by the Bi-State Agency with a $100,000 loan from the federal government.

The Bi-State Development Agency board includes C. E. Townsend, chairman, and members Edward J. Delmonore Jr., Terrell W. Francis, Charles H. Ham, Roy J. Morris, representing Illinois, and Morton R. Bearman, Joseph Cousin, Robert S. Knapp, Guy Roper and Sidney W. Souers, treasurer; Bearman, as assistant treasurer, and Francis, secretary.

Extensive runway improvements at Parks Airport, also operated by the Bi-State Agency, were carried out during the last year. The report pointed out that extension and improvement of the runways has provided a first class airport for the area.

To Light Runways

Plans for lighting of the entire taxiway loop with an additional bond issue of $101,825 also were made during the year and are scheduled for implementation soon.

Protestant Welfare Gives $822 Relief Aid

Relief assistance given by the Protestant Welfare Association, a United Fund agency, amounted to $822 during August, it was reported Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the agency's board.

Roy Lynn, president, was in charge of the meeting, held at the Peace Lutheran Church with 30 members present. Rev. Carl Johnson gave the devotions.

The August relief report prepared by office secretary Mrs. Marie Whittle, showed the agency handled 53 cases involving 265 persons. Included were 12 new cases, 15 returned cases and 20 transfers. The referrals were by area residents, ministers and an Aid to Dependent Children caseworker.

Officers for 1966-67 will be elected by the board of directors of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce at its next dinner meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 4, at the Rose Bowl. It was announced today.

Items purchased for 34 children, and that it was necessary to replenish the agency's storeroom with new items of clothing and underwear for boys and dresses and underwear for girls. The items were distributed to families.

Items distributed from the storeroom were valued at $433.

One of the pre-school cases handled by the agency involved a child who would be starting school and three others at home. While the father is working, the family has a premature baby in the hospital and aid was needed. The 10 transfers were provided with school shoes and clothing. The minister who conducted the interview noted that while the father has a steady job, all of his money goes to rent and buy food.

Mrs. Whittle reported she has copies of Economic Opportunity reports available at the agency, 2022 Edison Avenue, and they are available to the public. Protestant Welfare board members showed the new school month.

Injury-Plagued Warriors to Visit Trojans Friday

Broken Nose Among Ills Befalling GC

If last week's Granite City-Cahokia game was a battle for prestige, tomorrow's 8 p.m. game at Madison will be a fight to survive, as far as the Warriors' torn and tattered image is concerned.

Trojan coach Glen Pickering is hoping his boys will sustain no serious injury, but he's not so sure. "I've got one injury last week," he says. "At Warriorville injuries already are a plague."

Broken Nose

Rich Parney, 17, recently selected to start at right halfback Friday night, broke his nose in practice Tuesday. Just how long the senior letterman will be out is unknown.

Mike Doenin, senior left guard who suffered a concussion last Friday night, will likewise miss the game.

Senior right tackle Jim Gann who was hit with a respiratory ailment after four plays against Cahokia, has still not recovered and is not available for material.

Other Injuries

Another doubtful is senior center Rick Hensley, who is currently nursing a strep throat. Still another question mark on the starting roster is the halfback, Jim Lohman, who suffered a neck injury Tuesday night.

"Law's injury may be only a muscular thing," Morrison commented in surveying his battered team. "He's been charged up, but I would list him as doubtful."

Certainly, the game at Madison will be a test of Granite City's depth as Morrison and his staff shuffle and reshuffle the deck.

Definitely a change in the starting lineup exists at offensive right guard when Jim Hennert, not listed among those on last week's starting roster, weighs in.

Other changes could occur at right tackle. Too, Should Gann be out again, either Doug Wickham or a 239-pound junior, or another junior, Jim Johnson, may start here.

Red Zone Award

In spite of all the shuffling going on, most of the players singled out for red star and other awards last week will be in action tomorrow night.

Mike Doenin, senior, started four times in his work against Cahokia, is slotted in the left guard position on Morrison's new offensive line.

Doenin was twice starred for making tackles inside the Commanders' 20-yard line, and received another pair of helmet decorations for blocking two attempted PATs.

Jim Wilson, senior candidate for starting backfield duty during the pre-season period and winner of the Chuckles Ax Murder award in the season opener, will be at right halfback. Wilson was red-starred for a touchdown-saving tackle, too.

Winner of Fighting Warrior of the Week, senior backfielder Dan Parney, another starter to prove his worth, will go offensively at fullback and see defensive tackle duty.

Other red star bearers on the starting roster tomorrow night will be the back, Carl Parney, fullback and defensive halfback Dan Anderson. Both were decorated for tackles inside the enemy's 20-yard line.

End Joe Collins, who nabbed seven passes Friday night, is a red star player. Also Steve Gerken, the sharpshooting Trojan quarterback.

Another Madison Trojan and lad worth watching is Sam Jones, who ran a punt back for 82-yard TD against the Redmen.

The other red star athletes in the starting lineups are Bob Kline, sophomore, for his work on the punting team; and set for defensive tackle duty, and Jim Hensley, who recovered a bobbed ball. Hensley will be on the defensive line.

Two other red star athletes in the starting lineups are Bob Kline, sophomore, for his work on the punting team; and set for defensive tackle duty.

Another Madison Trojan and lad worth watching is Sam Jones, who ran a punt back for 82-yard TD against the Redmen.

The other red star athletes in the starting lineups are Bob Kline, sophomore, for his work on the punting team; and set for defensive tackle duty.

Other red star winners were Hensley, now doubtful about his future, and Lybarger. Both recovered fumbles, and right tackle.

Directing comment specifically at the upcoming game, Morrison said, "We'll definitely be out to prove we're better than the people we last beat last night."

"I think there's more to it than we are," Morrison, who is facing the Trojans for the fourth time in his career at Granite City says, "It'll be a hard-fought battle. We'll continue. It always is."

"Maybe this year it'll be even tougher because this is the last time we play."

Inter-City Loop Repeat Of '65 Cup Championship

This season's Southwestern Illinois Inter-City League playoffs are a late summer re-run of the 1965 goings-on. Last year, both division leaders were knocked out in semi-finals and the happy ending was a repeat.

This week, Collinsville ousted Red Division topdog Maryville and Pocahontas downed Mercer, which had topped the Blue partition. The only difference last year was that the Blue team had won the Divisional.

Now the best two-of-three series begins with the Braves visiting defending playoff champion Collinsville at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Warrior JV's Win Triangular

A rough break cost Granite City's varsity cross-country team the victory at Wood River Tuesday but the Warrior JV team did win in the triangular meet.

"We had just got back from walking the course," saidหาร coach Jim Harmon, "and we already had the varsity team going." Harmon explained that new personnel conducting the meet were the cause of the mix-up.

Jerseyville, 29, won the varsity set. Granite City was second at 45 and Wood River came in with 75. The winning Jerseyville runner's time was 33:30.

Granite City varsity finishers were: Dave Lomax 3rd, 10:28; Gus Chalkham 5th, 10:32; Richard Hall 10th, 10:51; Mike Welsh 13th, 11:08; and Joe Pasher 14th, 11:26.

JV Victory

Granite City's 28 points won the Jaycees part of the meet with Jerseyville scoring 33 and Wood River 39. Again, Jerseyville's Richard Hall finished 12 seconds ahead of second-place finisher Mark Radtak at 11:25.

Other Warrior jayvee finishers were: Alex Tarpoff 4th, 11:35; Dennis McGee 11th, 14:44; Tom Orman 7th, 11:35; and Tom Johnson 12th, 12:01. Pastera, Tarpoff, McGee and Nieuwer were sophomore.

Harmon, pleased with the showing of younger runners especially, noted that "Dicky" Green, Bill Wiesenthal, Bethany and Gary Booth of Alton, IMCA officials do not publicly certify, will run to the team.

Granite City is involved in the 30-school Edwardsville invitational meet tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. There will be varsity, jayvee and freshman competition.

Roxana Harrier Team Defeats Trojans 26-29

Roxana's harriers barely squeezed past Madison, 26-29, in a dual cross-country meet over Belt Line on 18th Street Tuesday. It was the initial competition for Trojan coach Earl McCormick, 1965 edition.

McCormick said, "I thought the boys ran real well. The times were a lot better than anything we've clocked around here."

Meet winner was Roxana's Terry Lubett with a 10:15 clocking. Madison's top running letterman, Wilbert Glasper, came in at 11:25 for second place.

Other Madison finishers were: Bruce Morris 11th, 11:30; Neil Orell 6th, 11:50; Gary Wood 8th, 11:55; Neil Podoba 10th, 12:02.

Chalky Visit

The Madison harrier coach will get his team to town Monday night when the Trojans host Chalky in a varsity and jayvee encounter.

Madison's course is a flat circumference and unique in that harriers must run part of it twice. It begins at the east end of the stadium, circles the twice and skirts out around the stadium track.

Runners then return to the stadium track course, and the stadium sprint area is a 100-yard dash between the football goal posts.

Auto Racing Season Here Nearing End

Arriving from the only track competing Saturday night here, we turn to their appetites for super-modified and stock car competition at Tri-City Speedway this weekend.

Following Saturday night's racing, the track will close down in preparation for the climaxing IMCA Championship races Oct. 2, which has over 30 entries.

Among the many fans expected this weekend, and appearing strictly in a spectator role, will be Roger Boucher, The Berkeley, Mo., driver, narrowly escaping death last Saturday, was released from the hospital today.

Brothers To Duel

A battle of brothers shapes up in the highlight of Saturday night's super-modified competition when "Fats" Bolton, a brother Charles Bolton will square off. The brothers race at Wood River.

Another hot car competitor here for time trials at 7:30 p.m. and events at 8 p.m. will be St. Louis' Jim and Tom Johnson.

Harmon, pleased with the showing of younger runners especially, noted that "Dicky" Green, Bill Wiesenthal, Bethany and Gary Booth of Alton, IMCA officials do not publicly certify, will run to the team.

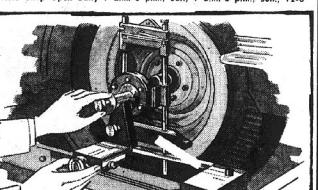

Granite City is involved in the 30-school Edwardsville invitational meet tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. and dollars is anticipated. Entry deadline is midnight this Sunday, Sept. 25.

Regional Office Directive

More Attendance Required At County EOC Meetings

Stiffer regulations governing official actions by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission in order to remain eligible for further federal appropriations were introduced and adopted Monday evening at the agency's meeting in Edwardsburg.

Commissioners also heard reports on success of the county's summer "Head Start" program, which is a state-supported training program, now under way in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Directives issued through the Great Lakes Regional EOC office in Chicago necessitated changes in the county anti-poverty group's by-laws to qualify for additional federal funds, commissioners were told.

The revisions involved an increase in the number of commissioners required to attend executive and general sessions to transact business and for additional persons from economically deprived areas to be included in the executive and general membership roster.

Nameoki Township U.S. Savings Bond Owners To Borrow $12,000 May Defer Tax Payments For Road Work

For Federal income tax purposes, the interest on Series E plus other income is under $600. And no tax is due until the child's income exceeds $900. Then, when the child begins to earn, child support, child expenses, to include interest on the tax return, may be deferred by a cash bond. The interest is free from income tax. A copy of the tax return filed the first year should be retained as proof of intent.

It is an alternate choice is to defer reporting the interest until the child begins to use the bonds. The child may file his own tax return each year (if his income is $600 or more) reporting the full amount of interest on redeemed bonds.

Surgeon Harry Briggs, 4250 Highway 162, told police Tuesday that he expects the application for a cash bond to be the final one issued by the township against future tax collections for the road and bridge fund. The 1966-67 permanent budget is at $4,150 per cent when held to maturity. The rate increase was announced earlier this year, but was retroactive to 1965.

Briggs said, "I believe we will be in the black as far as this fund is concerned after the first year of interest and earnings may be issued, however, to augment the general assistance fund, if required, by the Illinois department of public aid."

Briggs improved the front portion of the township's office with a porch entrance, serving a dual purpose as a window to the office and entrance to the attached garage area, construction of a standard size door into the garage and replacement of blocks in wall to accommodate there were all construction units.

Auditor William Schreiber suggested obtaining bonds for a cash bond, but withdrew his motion after a discussion brought out that detailed specifications would be required to make a call for bonds can be made. It was agreed to discuss the matter with the Illinois contractors to determine costs.

Schreiber was instructed to look into the purchase of bonds, cashed out, required by law to be kept intact by the township.

Highway Commissioner Charles Hanks agreed to talk with contractors whose trucks are used to move debris in the Wilshire Mano subdivision. The problem was noted by Michael Royal, a resident of the area, who questioned the feasibility of load limit signs on subdivision thoroughfares.

Briggs said that he had no detailed information on what the township may have in opposition to recent annexation by Granite City of the area for the new St. Louis metropolitan area and Chicago will be placed in operation about 30 days from now, according to Oliver J. Rhein of Belleville.

Rhein, who serves as vice-president of traffic and sales for the newly-formed Executive Air Lines, Inc., described the new air travel service to Granite City and the St. Louis metropolitan area as the "biggest thing" in the industry, meeting in the YMCA, Tuesday. He was introduced by Gilbert W. Kuklenuk.

Initial flight schedules call for air service between Paris Busch Airport in East St. Louis, Springfield, Ill., and Chicago. Rhein said, Twin-engined planes, carrying 20 passengers, will land at Springfield municipal airport and May airport, located near the downtown Chicago area.

The air line executive said the special service primarily is geared to eliminate the amount of time wasted in driving long distances to major airports, he added. "It's a big time saver," he said. Tuesday, the two boys broke a front window at the shop and ran away.

Investigation by police, led to the arrest of two boys who admitted accidentally breaking the window while they passed by. The youths were released to report to juvenile authorities Sept. 22.

Two Trucks Fired

In E. Cook, 2010 Illinois Avenue, was arrested at 10:20 a.m. Tuesday on charges of having no safety inspection of his truck, no valid Illinois driver's license, and driving without a chauffeur's license. Tom Seal, 3304 Ferrell Lane, was charged with permitting an unauthorized person to operate a motor vehicle. They were fined $10 plus costs on each charge.

Autos Collide

At 4:45 p.m. Monday, a collision Monday at Fourth street and Madison avenue, in Ferrell Lane, was charged with driving without a license. James Wood, 1924 Fourth street, who was going west and making a left turn onto Madison avenue, and Carl Daniels of East St. Louis, who was traveling south, were seen.

According to a report of the membership committee, Metro East now has a total membership of 50, representing the seven area communities.

Youthful Sisters Campaign With Vigor—For GOP

The Serini sisters—Sandra 11, and Sharon, 10—already are a step ahead of their older Republican campaigner, Mrs. Serini, who is president of the Granite City Republican Club. Mrs. Thiele is Sunshine Chairman of the Women's Club.

The Thiele's front lawn, decorated with brightly colored posters and decorated autos, leaves no doubt as to the family's political ties. The sisters' supporters have headed with posters, cards and stickers include a canister with a sign inviting contributions.

The stand was operated for the second time yesterday Saturday and attracted a number of motorists who have stopped to inspect the display and to pick up campaign literature and posters. Several campaign canisters have visited the young sisters.

The family reports the campaign stand was the girls' own idea. They opened their first campaign stand in 1964, also on their grandfather's lawn.

There has been an increase in traffic over last year in 10 of the 11 months. One month exception is August, which had 464,382. Under ordinary circumstances this also would have been an increase, but the East St. Louis Veterans Memorial Bridge will be replaced in August 1967. The traffic on the new bridge is expected to be 483,463, an all-time monthly record.

Traffic Down But McKinley Bridge
Nearing Record

A new record of more than 400,000 crossings a day will be set by the Venetian-style McKinley Bridge.

The record, set in 1965, was 399,945 vehicles in October 1965, 420,512 in November, 432,459 in December 1965, 404,380 in January 1966, 420,281 in February 1966, 422,436 in March 1966, 432,515 in May, 438,482 in June, 439,962 in July, 440,269 in August.

For the month just ended, traffic averaged 14,960 a day.

Monthly figures were: Aug. 1-7, 104,467; Aug. 8-14, 101,595; Aug. 15-21, 101,519; Aug. 22-28, 104,501; and Aug. 29-Sept. 4, 104,500.

Crossings for September 1965 totaled 428,366. Only 328,540 would be needed this month to reach the 5,000,000 level for the year.

At the time the bridge was purchased by the city of Venice in 1958, predictions used in projecting future finances indicated that 5,000,000 vehicles in a single year would not be reached until 1970.

The pattern has been more favorable than expected in recent years, but McKinley bridge have been higher than anticipated and the city is seeking to refinance bridge bonds.

BUBBLEMASTERS CHANGE
DATE OF MEETINGS

A monthly meeting of the bubble masters' club was held Sunday afternoon at the YMCA, with Ed Duffin, president, conducting the business meeting.

The main point of discussion was rescheduling the monthly meeting date. The members agreed to meet on the second Sunday of each month for the next six months and at the end of that time to have a general business meeting at the YMCA. The change best accommodates the majority of the members.

Also discussed was a banquet to be held in the winter, the Non Masonic Scale club in November. At this meeting, the local club will elect new officers for the coming year and present trophies for the winning accomplishments by members.

The president announced that anyone interested in attending the courses and joining the club should contact the "Y" for definition of the meeting.

Members attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brannan, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Krohn, Mr. and Mrs. New Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Griffin and daughter Debbie, Ron Homyer, Tom William-

Future of Bridge Becomes 'Pink Elephant' Dilemma

The future status of the Chain of Rocks bridge has become a "pink elephant" dilemma to the city.

Tolls on the span, which had provided the city with the "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow" for the past 25 years, were eliminated on a permanent basis by the city council Tuesday night.

The mayor and aldermen had been informed by the Army Corps of Engineers that the bridge bearing would be held to eliminate tolls finally if the city did not act on the matter first. It did, adding a price of $100,000 to the city's cost of maintaining the span would be no greater than $50,000 to $70,000, including painting every six years, upkeep of the roadway, cost of lighting and salaries of a skeleton force of about six watchmen.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 9 at the YMCA.

The Eights club card club met in yellow and white, and a decorated birthday cake topped with a ballerina as the centerpiece. Favors were placed at the each table setting. Ice cream, cake and soda were served by the hosts.

Games were played and those winning prizes were Sharon Brewer, Eddie Tapp, Lynn Wilson and Robert Littlejohn.

Army to re-establish tolls in the future if it became necessary.

Bridge May Be Revived

It's said the new interstate bridge may be insufficient to handle the flow of traffic and that the old bridge could become a secondary or local bridge.

The mayor added that the city receives about $100,000 per year in interest from the surplus bridge tolls, which would be used as a backup for the series of illuminated advertising signs visible to interstate traffic, but that the city probably would object.

The firm proposed to conduct a feasibility study, including an economic analysis of the cost of implementing such development, with a total cost of $12,000 to $14,000 for the research work.

It's Against Law

The elaborate report, Mayor Maers said bluntly that the city "could not get into this type of business. Illinois law tells cities what they can do. We can't go into private property and take what we want."

"We may have to do something else to do so," he added.

He said the city has received many types of suggestions for use of the bridge, some of which are "fantastic."

More than two years ago, he recalled, plans were drawn for a marina on the west bank, to shape and water recreation facilities, but the nearby rock dam made the facility too dangerous.

The mayor suggested that the city may need further studies on the matter.

Vote to Remove Tracks on Adams, Washington Ave. Council Continues Battle Over Sewer Fee Collections

A move to transfer to the city treasurer the job of collecting sewer rental fees from residents on the Nameoki sanitary sewer lines as well as new sewage fees will be voted on by the city council last night.

Lengthy debate on the issue developed after Alderman Nunn, chairman of the Sewer Fee Committee, failed to submit an amended ordinance that he said, bore no signatures and "we don't know what we want." The original ordinance placed the sewer rental collection duty with the city comptroller.

In the past, the collection of sewer fees has been handled by a committee of the city council. An ordinance passed in December 1965, Alderman Johnson pointed out that officials of bonding firms covering the treasurer and comptroller should be allowed to see if they approve of such a change.

Mayor Donald Partney suggested that the ordinance be referred to the city attorney before transferring responsibility of sewer fee collections.

It was brought out that the late city comptroller Joe Dooley received extra pay if the change is made.

Mayor Partney said that he would not and that the present committee, which is composed of Alderman Witten, Alderman Rutherford, chairman of the council's Planning and Zoning committee, recommended compensation for handling the accounts.

"There had better not be any extra pay," Alderman Rutherford remarked. "And there had better be no requests for extra help or overtime."

Finance Chairman Rutledge told the council that he did not care who collects the fees. "But we better find out from the bonding firms what they think about this."

He said that "we want an ordinance that a person can't specify who collects what . . . this ordinance is not do that. It's only a jumble of words."

After a brief debate, the ordinance, which had been officially presented, was tabled. Alderman Stenberg cast the only dissenting vote.

Alderman Rutherford moved that the city attorney be instructed to bring in an ordinance placing responsibility for sewer fee collections with the treasurer's office, and that a permanent committee be appointed to approve issuance of the permit. The recommendation lost 11-to-5 with Alderman Stenberg, Thompson and Fry voting "no." Alderman Rutherford, chairman of the Street Committee, sought tentative approval of proposed traffic controls in a plan to eliminate the hazardous jog in State Street between Adams and Washington, but said he would go over the map again after Alderman Bartosiak contended only one traffic stop and yield sign could serve for four different stops proposed on the map.

The council approved an ordinance that will permit Granite proposed the track removal project for Washington avenue, but opposed the plan for removal of the Adams street tracks, saying there were insufficient funds. Alderman Roy Poulos, however, successfully amended Bartosiak's motion to include the Adams street project.

Most aldermen said the combined projects would cost far more than the $27,000 balance.

$20,000 Washington Estimate

Bartosiak said an estimate for the Washington avenue project, made about a year ago, was $15,000. He said the costs undoubtedly have increased since that time and the work would be more than $20,000, leaving insufficient funds for the Adams street project.

He suggested the Washington avenue work be done first, with the Adams street work carried out if and when funds are available.

Poulos pressed the point that the Adams project was as important as the other. His amendment carried 10-5, and Bartosiak's motion then carried with only two dissenting votes.

Approve Speed Limit

On a motion by Alderman Witten, Nunn, the council approved 25-miles-per-hour speed limits on Chestnut and Olive streets and Niedringhaus to St. Louis avenue.

Alderman Charles Moerlein, chairman of the sewage treatment committee, reported that a delay in completion of gas line extensions to the new plant, due to the possibility that construction of a relocated line to the Army Depot could mean a $15,000 deposit refund to the city by the end of the year, has left the plant without heat.

He said heat is needed by the workers in the shower room and the offices, and asked authority to buy a portable heater to be operated with bottled gas until the gas main construction is complete. His request was approved.

Moerlein pointed out that a delay developed in the Army depot for a new main, delaying completion of the plant, which was to be built in the fall and winter. The plant, which had been officially presented, was tabled. Alderman Stenberg cast the only dissenting vote.

Approved Pipeline

The council approved an ordinance that will permit Granite

City Steel Co. to operate two 4-inch pipes 22 feet above 20th and 21st streets. The lines will carry hydrogen-nitrogen gas. The gas will be used for the maintenance of the lines and repair of city property necessary to installation or maintenance.

Approval was given, however, to a proposal by the city engineer for a 100-foot section of the pipe at 3703-3711 Nameoki street, on petition of W. J. and I. V. Steel, to a "C2" (commercial) class, from an R-2 single family speed limit on Chestnut and Olive streets and Niedringhaus to St. Louis avenue.

The request was approved by the City Park Commission by Alderman Rutledge, chairman of the council's Planning and Zoning committee, recommended compensation for the facility program and create nuisance.

Submits Petition

Thompson submitted a petition which he said was signed by 20% of the property owners in the vicinity, an action that requires a majority of the property owners to approve issuance of the permit. The recommendation lost 11-to-5 with Alderman Stenberg, Thompson and Fry voting "no."

The Granite City school district's request for $16,652 in Title I funds for the U.S. Office of Education's Secondary School law in 1966-67 was approved by State Supt. Ray Page, enabling the Project Lift-Off instructional program to proceed as planned, the school board was told last night.

Due to an unexpected outbreak in the Granite City school system, the proposed grant was more than the $27,000 balance.

Mrs. Kenneth (Janice) Cole, Madison County Superintendent of Schools Wilbur R. L. Trimpe said today that under the state's new junior college system, such a district would receive an estimated $5,000,000 annually, covering 75% of construction costs and 50% of operating costs.

Trimpe was told the junior college district following presentation of a feasibility study conducted over the past ten months by Southern Illinois University's Educational Research Division.

The study, summarized for the educators and committee members by Dr. Henry Bass, Dr. George Goodwin and Dr. Howard Southwood of the SIU, recommended:

Probation Officer Stresses Need for Detention Home

James Reidelberger, chief probation officer for the Third Judicial Circuit Court, emphasized the importance of favorable public support in the Nov. 8 referendum on the construction of a juvenile detention home in Madison County. He estimated the facility would cost $32,000 to construct and furnish and about $100,000 per year to operate.

The probation officer spoke last night to Granite City Jaycees at their monthly dinner meeting at the Tri-Me Club. John Lakin was named the Jaycee of the Month" in award recognition of his efforts as chairman of the Illinois junior sports committee.

Reidelberger told Jaycees the proposed detention home would have a capacity of 30 persons which could be stretched to accommodate 40, if necessary. He estimated it would apprise 600 children a year who would be temporarily at the home for an average stay of 15-20 days.

The court official explained that the total assessed valuation in Madison county is $864,000,000, the second largest by assessed valuation in Illinois, and fifth largest in size. If the proposed detention home project is approved by voters in the Nov. 8 election, the camporee will take place Oct. 9 at Beaver Dam State Park in assessed valuation, returning an annual revenue of $144,294.

He said that at the present time camporees in court cases pending in the dilapidated jail or remain at large or in foster homes until their cases go to trial. "We must avoid placing minors in the company of hardened criminals," he stressed. "This can only be avoided with the construction of a regular detention home where supervision will be provided by qualified personnel."

Reidelberger was introduced by Gerald McGiven, an assistant state's attorney and a member of the 3rd Engineers Command. He gave the invocation and others were to attend a meeting of the Highland Jaycees on Sept. 28.

Guests at the dinner were representatives of the Troy and Belleville Jaycee organizations.

House Oks Flood and Navigation Aid Funds

Commissioner Melvin Price (D), East St. Louis reported yesterday for several Madison-St. Clair counties area flood control navigation projects.

The biggest item was $3.5 million in construction funds for the $77 million Kaskaskia River Navigation Project. Although the President had signed an omnibus $1.5 billion for the project, Price appeared before the House Appropriations subcommittee on Public Works, pointing out that the Corps of Engineers had a $3.5 million project capability for the new fiscal year. The committee approved the full amount.

The House also voted funds for continued navigation work on the Mississippi River, between the Ohio and Missouri Rivers. $2.5 million was appropriated for maintenance of a flood depth channel along the stretch of the River and $250,000 for maintaining the Chain of Rocks navigation canal and locks.

The House passed a special appropriation bill now required to implement the Corps of Engineers action. Price said the Senate Appropriations committee was meeting this week on the measure.

For continued work on the New Athens' flood wall, and $300,000 for the construction of four pumping stations in the Prairie du Chien and Sanitary District interior flood control project. The budget had not recommended funds for the Prairie du Chien project; however, Price appeared before the Subcommittee with representatives from the Prairie du Chien District in support of the proposal.

The House passed public works appropriation bill now required to implement the Corps of Engineers action. Price said the Senate Appropriations committee was meeting this week on the measure.

Adequate Nutrition Education
Adequate nutrition is more adequate nutrition education. Studies consistently show that many teenagers' nutritional status is below par. Research shows these findings.

The older the child, the poorer the diet. The percentage of young people with poor diets increases sharply from childhood to teenage.

The teenagers girl is the poorest fed member of the family.

The nutrients most commonly lacking in teenagers' diets are calcium and vitamin C. Five of every six teenagers under 10 to 10 boys get less than two-thirds of the daily calcium recommended by the National Research Council. Iron is also often low in the diet of the teenage girl.

To help overcome these nutritional problems, parents and other adults can guide adolescents in making good food choices. Good foods that supplement the diet include eating a reliable food plan, such as the Basic 4 pattern. In this pattern, nutritionally important foods are arranged into four groups: milk, meat, vegetable, fruit and bread-cereal.

In the milk group, teenagers should plan to have four or more cups of milk daily. Milk is the best source of calcium. Eggs are another way to get many needed nutrients in eatable servings without extra calories.

In the milk group, teenagers should plan to have two or more cups of dry beans, peas or lentils; or four tablespoons of peanut butter.

Old-Time Threshing

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

A day was spent at the seventh Annual American Threshers' Association meeting on the Perry County Fair Grounds, in Pinckneyville. It brought a flood of youthful memories, full of nostalgia, especially to one who lived the old threshing days.

Practically every boyhood day was an interesting one. Of course there were some very special days, such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, The New Year and the last day of school that are remembered as intervals tightly squeezed into the regular run of days.

There were occasional seasons when a succession of days centered about some general theme. One of these was at harvest-threshing time. Harvesting naturally came first, but is less vividly recalled by farm boys of the present.

Wheat harvesting days were the lesser impressive ones of the harvest-threshing season. Then, after a few days when heavy rain, the use of teams of small fry boys, those not large enough to help shock wheat, led them to follow, invariably barefoot, and frequently through patches of nettle infested straw, came the more important days.

(We didn't call them threshers at that time.)

Such privileged boys marveled at the complex arrangements of spoked and linked chassis, cranes, feeders, etc., making a moving belt of straw covered canvasses, and the automatic trip that set the knot tying mechanism into motion when enough straw had been gathered to form a bundle.

Bundle Kickout

It always was a high point of interest to see the bundle "kicked out." To watch all this synchronized mechanical activity amidst the accompanying noises was almost as令人兴奋 as to see boys to trudge miles behind the binder. Wheat harvesting days were wonderful, but not half so much, however, as the threshing days that followed shortly.

After a few days during which the bundled wheat had dried in the shocks the distant but unmistakable whistle of a steam engine announced the advent of a threshing into the settlement. These first remembered engines were of the "portable" type, generally drawn by two mules or oxen. Within a short time as history goes these "portables" gave way to the steam traction engine, much like those working, chuffing, chugging, panting and snorting along the center field of the Pinckneyville Fair Ground.

Even during the days of the portable, threshing out was of little importance. The traction-drawn engine was followed by the very essential water wagon with its horse or mule team, often being too slow to come on a trot when the sharp blast of the whistle said "Time to thresh."

These were followed in turn by the separator, or in farm jargon the "thresher" with another team, the separator responsible for breaking oxen. In some cases another device known as the straw-stacker brought up the end of the caravan. This stacker swinging on a pivot from side to side and angled form shape, was used to shed the water and preserved the straw for varied uses. It was then kept to fill straw ticks for beds, to fill feather beds, to make wall home woven carpet, to make nests, bedding stock, or to be available for cattle to munch all day long.

Traction Engine Appears

The portable steam engine disappeared when the traction engine capable of drawing the separator along with it came. The straw-stacker disappeared when the "cylinder" threshing came to blow the threshed straw into symmetrical stacks. Boys that stood on the hinged shelves beside that of the feeders climbed down from when separators were equipped with automatic feeders, likewise the man who fed the unthreshed straw into the machine.

What happened this boy and Hardy Robinson climbed down from the stands on the bond cutter shelves and took other opportune jobs. This one took the separator and began tying them with miller knots that the local miller, Dan Reeves, had taught him in fashion. As successive seasons came the pitched bundles, drawn by a bundle wagon, hauled shelled wheat, manned the water wagon, in fact, he did every task in the threshing process except feeding wheat. He did not know what he would have tried had automatic feeders not eliminated the job about the time he grew tall enough to chin the sloping throat that led to the cylinder and concaves.

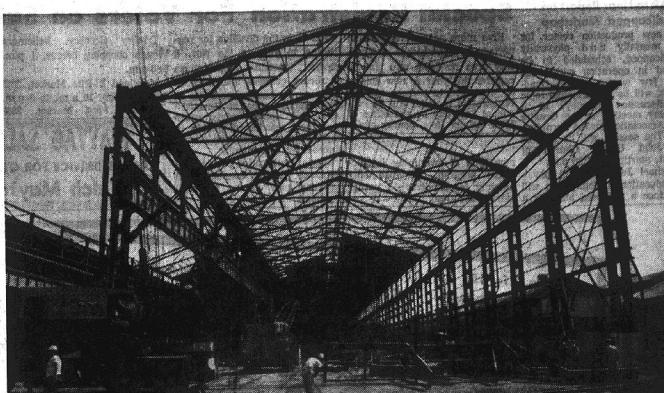

This year there were a few dozen massive tractors on display at the Perry County fair with a portable saw mill, a single making machine, seven bottom gang plows, four row corn planters and matching pickers. This top-of-the-line equipment was a far cry from the threshing days at the turn of the century.

The one dominating feature of this year's meeting was an event that has not been seen in a few years. Most of those bringing engines were older men, most of whom had grown up steeped in the trade of threshing grain, and, even so, were men who had turned to traction engines as a hobby. One man was a retired postal worker.

Variety of Engines

There was a variety of engines. Some of the more prominent were Keck, (Keck Gommeren), Jumbo, Rumley, Port Huron, Peerless and a stranger named Nichols-Shapard.

Then there was a horsepower rig on skids, without sweeps in 1900-FOOT LONG new rolling mill building which is going up in Granite City Steel's multi-million dollar modernization and expansion program. The photo, looking north, shows the 56-foot distance from the ground to the roof truss.

Local CD Police Win Pistol Match

Three local men representing the Granite City auxiliary police corps took top honors at a pistol shooting match this week at West Frankfort, Ill. The local team included police, including 109 points more than their nearest competitor in the six-team contest.

CC Auxiliary Police Chief John Becker received the match's individual highpoint trophy, collected $100 in cash, and the team total was $11. Jesus Berry and Patrolman Arthur Polite.

The shoot was held with the quarterly conference of the Southern Illinois Civil Defense Association, Captain H. C. Keeling, Civil defense director, and SICDA president, presided. The discussion centered on the correct procedures for communities to remain or become accredited civil defense unit agencies, to qualify for federal and state funds.

Byron Bridgett, Southeastern Illinois Mutual Aid Coordinator, provided information on submitting annual program papers to the Illinois Civil Defense Agency, which has placed 11 area communities on probation for not meeting program requirements. Granite City received its official registration certificate last week. CD Director Keeling said today. William Eisele, southwestern Illinois MAC, discussed availability of federal matching funds to construct emergency sheltering units. Others attending from Floyd E. Mitchell and Oliver Corrine.

Church Men to Attend Retreat at Camp

A number of local men, members of the United Churches of Christ, will be in DuBois, Ill., Sunday, to attend the Churchmen Fellowship Retreat at DuBois Center. The Center is owned and operated by the South Illinois Conference of the United Churches of Christ.

Amonging invited St. Paul's will be Ralph Anderson, Arnold Arbigast, John Arbogast, Earl Seecamp, Rev. H. H. Wintermeyer and John Mega. Arthur Vallay and Fred Schwart will represent St. John's Church.

Rev. Dr. Oscar Rump, professor of Christian Education and Counseling of Eden Seminary, will be the retreat leader and will conduct an open registration from seven to eight in the morning, followed by breakfast at eight and discussion groups through out the day. Luncheon will be served at noon and the meeting will end at 3 p.m.

Marin at Grafton On Planning Boards

Development of a municipal marina and boat harbor at Grafton is proposed and preliminary plans have been presented to the city by Grafton from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Illinois Division of Waterways.

The plans call for a $1,000,000 project with a rocket-like structure extending from Harrison street to a point below Main street, dredging a harbor to a depth of six feet, a parking lot, roads, service facilities and a marina. The project is to be completed date of 1968 and is to have facilities for 350 to 400 boats.

Battery Charge Filed

Douglas Dorn, 2621 Hemlock street, was arrested Monday night after he allegedly set a battery after he appeared at the Granite City police station. The complaint was filed by Larry Boeck.

Urge Early Purchase of Ainaid Show Tickets

Demand for tickets for the Ainaid Temple production of "Ozark Opry" on Sunday, Oct. 16 has taken a sudden swing upward, according to Chairman William Hoey, past president of Ainaid Temple, a combined Union and person planning to attend should get their tickets as early as possible.

The Sunday afternoon show will start at 2 p.m. and the evening show at 7 p.m. Advance tickets for both shows, for which tickets cost $1 per person, will be held at Ainaid Temple, 609 St. Louis Avenue, East St. Louis.

The Provost Guard of the Granite City Lions Club has been assigned to supervise parking of cars and patrol the parking areas. Tickets may be purchased by mail order to Ainaid Temple, 609 St. Louis Avenue, East St. Louis.

Red Cross Aid to Servicemen Up Sharply Due to Vietnam

A sharp upsurge in the number of inquiries about servicemen overseas and an increase in calls for assistance in solving the problems connected with military dependents at home has been experienced within the past 12 months by the Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross, an agency of the U.S. Army.

Many of the personal visits and telephone calls by relatives of servicemen can be directly attributed to American troops now serving in South Vietnam. A similar increase in information requests have been noted in all areas of the country, national Red Cross officials report.

In addition to helping solve the perplexing and difficult problems of servicemen and their families, the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter recently initiated an ambitious and much-needed blood program with local industries, St. Elizabeth Hospital and Missouri Department of Health and person planning to attend should get their tickets as early as possible.

The Sunday afternoon show will start at 2 p.m. and the evening show at 7 p.m. Advance tickets for both shows, for which tickets cost $1 per person, will be held at Ainaid Temple, 609 St. Louis Avenue, East St. Louis.

The Provost Guard of the Granite City Lions Club has been assigned to supervise parking of cars and patrol the parking areas. Tickets may be purchased by mail order to Ainaid Temple, 609 St. Louis Avenue, East St. Louis.

Advantages of the industrial-organizational blood contribution program will be that employees or group members who cannot give because of age or health restrictions can still be protected from blood needs through the Red Cross, along with members of their families.

A donor in the group participation phase not only protects himself and fellow group members, but also his spouse, householders, members, parents, parents-in-law, grandparents and grand-parents-in-law.

RED CROSS EXECUTIVE, Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, explains to a young serviceman the procedures for obtaining an extension of his emergency leave. The local Marine, who was summoned home from duty in Vietnam due to a serious illness in his family, consulted with Mrs. Overbeck at the Tri-City Red Cross office, 1411 Twenty-first street.

Loans and Grants
Local chapters have revolving loan departments from which the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter borrows funds under a local board of directors headed by Jack Absalom. Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, caught without funds, or their families whose allotment or dependents check has not yet come in, are helped by the Red Cross.

The Office of Civil Defense and the Office of Defense and Civil Defense have been service funds from which the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter borrows funds under a local board of directors headed by Jack Absalom. Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, caught without funds, or their families whose allotment or dependents check has not yet come in, are helped by the Red Cross.

Another vital part of the over-all Red Cross program, special Christmas-time activities, such as the free "talking letters" to servicemen, and water safety programs, are conducted through the local Red Cross chapter.

YOUTH FOCUS

Hospital Insurance
Planned at SIU-SW

Southern Illinois University-Southeastern has signed a contract with Blue Cross-Blue Shield to provide comprehensive hospital coverage for students with paid activity cards.

"This insurance is a supplement to the care that is available to the students through the University Health Services," said Mrs. Mary Parks, assistant to the university's medical director.

There are no deductibles and no limit, Mrs. Parks pointed out, and the plan will go into effect the first day of classes Sept. 21 for those who enroll in the insurance plan. Dental coverage for damage to teeth is included.

Cost of the plan for an individual student is $5.60 per quarter. Married students can enroll their spouses and children up to the age of 18 for $14.70 per quarter.

The plan is voluntary. Mrs. Parks said, but she hopes that every student who is not covered for hospital and doctor care will join. You can get this protection when you're in school and away, for there are more than 7000 regular hospitals throughout the country, including hospitals in Southern Illinois, which will honor Blue Cross-Blue Shield membership cards.

Deep beneath this field... a growing storehouse of gas.

When winter brings the greatest demand for gas from your gas company, or from industry, our growing storehouse deep underground helps supply it. Natural gas can be stored in porous sandstone rock, the kind that lies far beneath the surface near St. Jacob, Illinois, some 20 miles east of St. Louis. In summer we pump gas from our nearby pipeline down into the underground storage area. In the winter, it is there when the need for gas reaches its peak. This is one way we provide increasing amounts of the economical, "clean-air" fuel for the growth of the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Legion to Sponsor Oratorical Contest

SIU Technology Units Delayed Until Winter

The Illinois department of the American Legion will again sponsor an oratorical contest among high school students in the state during the school year.

Previous state winners from Granite City were Burton Bernard in 1964, who advanced to win the national contest with a $4000 scholarship, and Phillip Angeloff in 1965.

Local and county contests will be held after Oct. 15, while the district contest will be held before Oct. 17. Division contests will be held during the week of March 6-10, and department finals the week of March 20-24.

The state winner will advance to use more than a dozen temporary buildings and barracks for laboratories and classrooms, unoccupied since the building was completed at the new three-building complex.

A major reason for the delay was a summer strike at an eastern firm under contract to provide room partitions for the buildings.

Prepared orations in the oratorical contest must be on some phase of the U. S. Constitution which will emphasize the rights and obligations of citizens to the government. An extemporeaneous discourse on the Constitution will be part of the contest to test the student's knowledge of the basic principles of government under the Constitution.

State awards will include a gold medal and an $800 scholarship for first place, a silver medal and $400 scholarship for second, a silver medal and $200 for third and silver medals for fourth and fifth.

37 County Board Members Owe For Overpayments

Thirty-seven current members of the Madison county board of supervisors have received overpayments totaling $3800 per claim since 1961. John L. Kraynak, county auditor, said this week.

The overpayments were caused by a misinterpretation of state laws allowing double mileage pay for attendance at day and night meetings by members on the same day and by the granting of $5 per diem increases to holdovers and members of the board.

The law was clarified at the meeting of the county board last week. Kraynak said adjustments to recover the overpayments will begin on paychecks next month.

Joseph Bartylak, state's attorney, informed the board that those members who were elected in 1961 are not eligible for the pay rate from $15 to $20 a day voted in 1965, nor are those eligible who were appointed to fill vacancies of terms beginning in 1965.

The largest amount due the county is $255 by Mrs. Mary Ann Gaughan, Granite City assistant supervisor who was appointed to the board to fill a vacancy created by her husband. The overpayments were for attendance at 105 meetings. Mrs. Gaughan had been under the impression that she was entitled to the pay increase as she was a new member of the board and has no other employment. She is a member of the Juvenile Detention home and Nursing Home committee.

The overpayments range from as low as $5 and three are for more than $100, Kraynak said.

Kiwanis Honor Young Baseballers

Young baseball players, who are members of the team sponsored by the Granite City Kiwanis Club, and the Jim Holland midget league, were entertained by their sponsor. Many enjoyed a dinner and program at the Rose Bowl restaurant. Lt. Donald Wisor, newly-assigned Salvation Army officer, also was present at the dinner and program.

The 13 youngsters, who compiled a six win, six loss season and tied for third place in the park district's midget division, were accompanied by their manager, Jerry Duncan, and co-managers, Howard Etherton and Richard Stalcoff. Entertainment featured baseball film showing highlights of the 1965 world series between the Minnesota Twins and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Other members present included Ricky Kent, Mike Cain, Steve Burdige, Jim Childers, Jerry Duncan, Mike Stalcoff, Howard Lee Etherton, Jim and Roger Raub, John Wasson and Bruce Wyatt.

The youthful baseball competitors also volunteered their services to assist the Kiwanis Club with a annual peanut sale to be conducted Friday and Saturday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, in the downtown and suburban areas.

Plans are in the making for the season's second boat racing program, to be co-sponsored by the Kiwanians and the Bow Line Boat Club. The event is to be held Sunday, Oct. 2, on the Mississippi River, near the Hardin Canal.

Unlike the earlier contest, the October racing meet will match the larger boats in the race.

During the Aug. 21 race, the large boats competed in marathon distance events which proved popular with those viewing the race.

In the month's competition, boat drivers will be restricted to a pre-set oblong course, visible to all spectators on the riverbank. To encourage teenagers arriving at the race site to a popular recording will be presented, Kiwanians announced.

Peter Jellen, Kiwanis president, conducted the business meeting and we looked forward to the guests. Sixteen club members attended the dinner.

THE GREAT CAHOKIA MOUND only a few miles from the Quad-Cities, is the largest man-made earthen structure of prehistoric origin in the U.S.—1000x120 feet in area and 100 feet high.

Cahokia Mounds State Park Attracts Number of Tourists

Between Highways 270 and 40, just a few miles from the Quad-Cities, lies the midwest's largest prehistoric series of earthworks, known as the Cahokia Mounds.

Here, in a radius of one-and-one-half miles lie more than 80 prehistoric mounds. Cahokia Mounds State Park, containing 22.4 acres, includes many of these mounds and the pits from which the earth to build them was taken.

The Great Cahokia Mound, known also as Monk's Mound, is the largest man-made earth structure of prehistoric origin in the U.S. Probably it is the largest in the entire western hemisphere.

One thing is certain: the builders of these temples, earthworks, and "holy" and "erotic" structures, including the mounds, were agricultural people. They supplemented their diet with hunting, fishing and the gathering of nuts, roots and fruits. It is evident from their cultural remains—pottery, arrow points, flint and chert, polished stone hatchets and shell ornaments, that they came from the south.

The mounds, most likely built for religious and other public purposes, represent an amazing outlay of labor, considering the tools available.

Its base covers an area of six-and-one-half acres, or three times the size of the Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt.

Builders Vanished

Who made these temples, earthworks? Little is really known of the prehistoric race who labored, building mounds. Their settlements had vanished long before the earliest of the French explorers first set foot on Illinois soil.

Archaeologists from several universities, including SIU, currently are probing the largest mound to get data on the mound builders.

For the summit of this mound, a man faced the broad Mississippi flood plain, with the river in the distance. Surrounding it are dozens of other smaller mounds, and the pits left in their construction.

In 1925 the state of Illinois acquired the 224 tract to preserve the remaining mounds from industrial leveling. The University of Illinois has helped build, bit by bit, the story of the ancient Mound Builders. Inside the park museum are educational exhibits of the mounds and their ancient people.

For the visitor, the park adds to the convenience of the serious student who intends to linger long here to further study ancient Illinois and the exciting Illinois Expedition Land.
